Mr. Hoover Says Yes
A Freight Train's Story
By Arthur Brisbane

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 13.—THIS IS WRITTEN between Lamy and Albuquerque, New Mexico on the Santa Fe bound for California. There is no finer stretch of country than this, with beautiful sky and sunshine, magnificent, endless stretches of hills, six thousand feet above the sea. The population is light, room for millions more. Wise Providence reserved this land for a more highly developed race.

Senator Ferris, of Michigan, seventy-five years old, tired of the same old speeches in the Senate, would like to "live" for a little while before he dies. Many younger than seventy-five have felt as Senator Ferris feels. Life, grand becomes tiresome. The mind is more active than the body. The body is more active, suggest that seemed so important has become trivial. The "divine" is passed, the path leads down hill, not far to the goal.

How can a man like Senator Ferris "live" during his last years, the life of a thinking creature and claim to be only a cog in the earth's machine of 1,600,000,000 struggling nonentities?

A small stone house on one of these New Mexican hills, a telephone to study through clear air the universe in which this earth is a floating pellet, an automobile that would mean freedom to go toward the Pacific or the Atlantic, a small room with books containing the little knowledge that men have accumulated, and all they have said worth while, and time to think, that would be the program for a man gone wild.

"Loneliness" some will say. Not as loneliness as the grave, close by. "Never less alone than when by myself," said Gibbon, in "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire."

Secretary Hoover tells Republicans he will welcome their votes in the presidential primaries. He will continue to work in President Coolidge's Cabinet and will not "make any personal campaign." Two wise decisions. This country needs his work, use and thought. Voters know what Mr. Hoover has done and plans to do. If he elects him President it will be because they know him now.

Today's Albuquerque Journal says the majority of New Mexico's delegates will be for Hoover. The delegation is not instructed. It is not the business of this column to recommend candidates for any party. But one thing is certain, the President of the United States ought to know something about the business of the United States.

In wartime countries or tribes it would be considered preposterous. Please Turn to Page 12, Column 1.

HEARST PAPERS PRAISED IN RESOLUTION

The drug habit is far more deep-seated among girls and women than many church folk realize, Mrs. Susan Evans Stevens, president of the Episcopal Women's Association of Greater Boston, declared today in endorsing "Anti-Narcotic Educational Week."

The statement was made in connection with the action of her organization in adopting resolutions endorsing "Anti-Narcotic Educational Week" and praising the Hearst newspapers for their united drive throughout the country against the drug evil.

The resolutions pointed out that narcotics constitute a constant menace to health and morality, and that young girls who frequent dance halls and other places of amusement are particularly susceptible to them.

The resolutions further stated: Whereas, narcotics are a constant menace to health and morality, affecting the physical and mental well-being of the people, especially those of tender years who often become addicted to the habit before realizing the danger; and

Whereas, young girls are particularly susceptible through designing persons at certain dance halls and other places of amusement; and Whereas, drugs cause them to lose self-control and render them easy prey to persons with insatiable intent;

Therefore, be it resolved that the Episcopal Women's Association of Greater Boston does hereby endorse "Anti-Narcotic Educational Week" and the campaign being waged by the Hearst newspapers and will do its utmost to cooperate with parents, teachers, school, church and social welfare organizations in eradicating this insidious and stupendous evil.

The drug habit is far more deep-seated among girls and women than many realize, Mrs. Susan Evans Stevens, president of the Episcopal Women's Association of Greater Boston, declared today in endorsing "Anti-Narcotic Educational Week."

A crying infant, seized from a crib and hugged to her breast, was the only successful defense against physical attacks by her husband, Mrs. Dorothy M. Murphy, young mistress of Wright st., Cambridge, tearfully told Judge Harris today in Middlesex Probate Court.

She is suing John F. Murphy, an electric-plaster of Cambridge, for support, and she seeks the custody of three minor children.

As early as two months after their marriage in June, 1921, she testified, her husband beat her and called her profane names.

On one occasion, she said, he became infuriated while they were eating in the kitchen, and he drove the table against her abdomen, pinning her against a sink.

At another time, according to her testimony, he ripped a strip of nickel trimming from the kitchen stove while she was bathing the baby and started to beat her. On this occasion, as on others, she declared, her only successful defense was the infant.

The wife told the court that while she was critically ill last fall, preceding the birth of another baby, that did not live, her husband became incensed at neighbors coming into the house to minister to her.

Murphy, she said, was listening to the Dempsey-Sharkey fight over the radio and he swore that the visits of the neighbors were arranged purposely by the sick wife to disturb him.

PLEA FOR LONELY GIRL'S LIFE SENT BY AIRMAIL

CITES 'INSANE' ACTS OF DORIS M'DONALD

Chicago, Feb. 14 (SIS)—Affidavits tending to show a trend of insanity in Doris Palmer McDonald, sentenced to hang at Montreal on March 23 for the murder of a taxicab driver, were sent by airmail from Chicago today.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Michael Green, who lost track of her daughter 15 years ago when Doris was adopted by a wealthy woman physician of Oklahoma City, is one of those making the effort to save her from a Canadian noose.

Mrs. Katherine Walker, grandmother of the girl, and Miss Margaret Gould, governess for Doris when she was the ward of Dr. Frances Palmer, Oklahoma woman doctor, also made affidavits. Attorney James C. O'Brien, acting for the girl's mother, was confident a commutation of the girl's sentence would be effected.

"The affidavits show that Doris' grandfather, Mr. Walker, committed suicide in an asylum at Hamilton, Ont., six weeks before the girl's mother was born," said O'Brien.

"Then the girl herself, throughout her childhood, had delusions of grandeur. For days at a time she would insist that she was this heroine and that heroine, this celebrity and that celebrity."

"Finally, at the age of 17, she ran away and married Hunter Allen, a boyhood friend, on a dare. That marriage ended in court. Then, after another year, which a baby was born—and during which ordeal the girl nearly died—she took to the road again."

"She got into bad company, passed worthless checks, and finally married George McDonald, the man with whom she is sentenced to hang for the murder of the Canadian taxicab driver."

FEAR FOR LIFE OF BERTHE BRAGGIOTTI

With members of the family gathered at her bedside, Miss Berthe Braggiotti, society dancer, is critically ill, at the Parkway Hospital. It became known today.

The dancer, one of the famous sisters, was operated on last Friday for appendicitis and, according to reports, has failed to rally as she had been expected to do. One friend said today that her condition is slightly improved, but that Miss Braggiotti is still in great danger.

When necessary for the operation became apparent, the other prominent dancing sister, Francesca, was notified, and she rushed East from Hollywood where she has been making a picture with Gilda Gray.

Gloria, who is a teacher in the Braggiotti-Denishaw school of dancing, and other members of the family are at the hospital almost constantly.

The Braggiotti home is at 78 Upland road, Brookline, and the head of the family is Isadore Braggiotti, teacher of voice to society.

Berthe, according to information today, has been ill for some months, and has been confined to her bed by dancing and social activities. An operation was decided on last week after she had been under observation at the hospital for several weeks.

LIGHTING 'HOGS' ARE SCORED BY ATTWILL

In a scathing denunciation, Chairman Henry C. Attwill of the Public Utilities Commission today characterized certain of the gas and electric light companies of the state as "hogs," "money sharks" and "exploiters," and demanded drastic regulations be passed to bring them under more effective state control.

Speaking before the Legislative Committee on Power and Light, Attwill asserted that if what some of the companies say is true as to the rates they may charge "we have reached the point where regulations of their rates is no longer effective."

He declared the money sharks, compared with some of those companies, "are either pilfers or public thieves."

"These utilities are not content with returns of 15 or 16 per cent, but want special privileges and want to be exempt from competition," he pointed out. "Some of the companies have even charged excessive rates and have declined to divide their profits with the public."

EXTORTION CHARGED.
"They hide behind the screen of the federal Constitution and practice extortion and corporate greed on the public of the Commonwealth."

Unless he can see across the bill that the speaker advocated, then he said, "the only recourse left is public operation and ownership."

The commission's bill, he said, is an attempt "to grope in the dark and right-angled public utility owner an activity which he is likely to lose because of the activity of the hogs."

The bill recommended by Attwill would allow gas and electric companies to readjust their stock in order to capitalize revenues and undivided profits. It would bring about contractual relations between the state and the companies, the latter to be subject to such rates and charges as the state would prescribe.

OPEN UP COMPETITION.
Companies relating to give the state authority over them would lose the right of eminent domain and the privileges of issuing additional stock.

And last but not least, companies served by such companies would not be compelled to buy them before engaging into municipal ownership of plants for manufacturing and selling the commodity.

Attwill told the committee some of the companies even present the thought that rates should be made reasonable so that the public could share in the property.

He contrasted the rates charged by the municipal plant at Hingham, which, he said, has the lowest rates in the state and those charged by privately owned companies.

New York, Feb. 14 (AP)—Millionaires have increased in number about 600 per cent, since 1923, judging from statistics showing million-dollar estates for which trust companies have acted as executors or trustees.

INSIDE that room there are whispers — tiptoes — tear-stained cheeks. A distraught mother is anxiously bending over the still white bed, sobbing, watching and — hoping. Danger Days are bound to come in the lives of your boys and girls. They are days when vitality is low—when resistance against disease is weak—when a child's chances are less — and a disease germ's chances are greater. Sniffling noses, sore throats, finicky appetites, coated tongues are the danger signals!

The germs in the air know how to fight your boys and girls. Give your children the reserve energy to fight back!

Healthy bodies are safe bodies

Health comes from sunshine, fresh air, sound sleep, vigorous exercise, and above all — nourishing food. The foods your children eat are the building materials of which their growing bodies are made. Healthy bodies cannot be made of poor materials. Active, growing bodies need more than plenty of food! There are Danger Days ahead. They need the right kind of food. It must contain the vital elements for making strong bones, sound teeth, firm flesh, red blood and worlds of energy for tomorrow. Who knows — tomorrow may be the Danger Day! If any single vital element is missing from the food of boys and girls, no amount of fresh air, exercise or sleep can supply it. What are these vital elements? Where can they be found? Every mother owes it to her children to know.

Whole wheat builds resistance

When nature conceived the grain of wheat, she created a spark of life. She crowded into the whole wheat berry the very food elements essential to life and growth. In Ralston, the whole wheat cereal, children get the things which bodies must have to fortify them against the Danger Days to come — for none of the vital elements of whole wheat have been removed in making Ralston. Ralston will give your youngsters minerals for building strong bones and teeth—protein that makes firm, solid flesh—iron that makes red-blooded boys and girls—carbohydrates for energy—bran for normal elimination—and vitamins of life and growth.

Let Danger Days come—the Ralston boys and girls will be ready for them!

Use the Danger Days Coupon

We have a most important new booklet for you. It tells all about Danger Days—how you can recognize them—how you can fortify your boys and girls against them. It is 32 pages fully illustrated. Send for it. It may mean warding off many Danger Days!

Old Country Doctor 'Gone' for Good, Says Dr. Cabot

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 14 (AP)—Not cheaper but better medical care is Dr. Hugh Cabot's answer to the suggestion that village medical courses be shortened. Dr. Cabot is dean of the University of Michigan Medical School.

The demand that medical standards in schools be changed so that physicians may be turned out "more cheaply" is human enough, Dr. Cabot said. "As human, in fact, as the doctrine of the fundamentalist a demand for old, but hopeless, fulfillment."

He thinks the country doctor is being depleted, he agreed; but he designated as "thoughtless and ill advised" any move to reduce time that would tend to lower the standards of modern medicine.

Source of other residents in the vicinity were forced to the street in night garments when the main, apparently a continuous one, serving the neighborhood, sent its taudious odors second into other homes.

EVIL ALL VICTIMS.
Persons equipped with submeters 1 several police wagonloads of officers and nurses were rushed to scene.

Working against time to save the lives of the victims who by treachery out on a neighboring lot where the heroic Benjamin Morris, brother of John, had died, the physician matched all from the jaws of death.

Early this morning, Morris told in Boston Evening American, he woke smiling gas. The boy in bed or about 20 minutes and remarked that the fumes were even stronger.

Tracing the odor to the cellar door, he was almost overcome by a barrage of poison fumes which sent him reeling to the floor.

RESCUES FAMILY.
Realizing the dire danger to his mother's family, Morris threw open any windows as he could and rushed upstairs to the bedrooms where lay John Morris and his wife and children, several already unconscious and others rapidly becoming so.

The toxic seized Walter, the youngest and started to dress him, but even as he did so the child fell back on the bed, his face turning a ghastly black as he struggled for breath.

At this point the entire area was in a future as residents clad in flimsy clothes rushed to the street with the first spread of the alarm. Before the entire vicinity was permeated with the poison fumes and at this point the police, doctors and firemen arrived.

While physicians the doctors worked for many minutes first over the serious and then over the less seriously affected.

Driest Dry Here

At a dynamic little man who moves about on crutches arrived in Boston today, presentation of "Black and Purple" which was the title of an address he planned to make to 2200 Somerville tonight.

He is William D. Uphaw, former Congressman from Georgia, and the primary purpose of his visit was to tell members of the John J. Murphy Democratic Forum of Somerville, at a debate tonight, just why, in his opinion, Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York is not a Democratic nominee for President.

Uphaw has been dramatically termed the "Georgia Cyclone" and the "Abe Lincoln of the South." An accident sent him to bed for six years of his youth; grief and determination took him out of bed, put him through college when he was 17 and made him a member of Congress for eight years.

WANTS SOBER PARTY.
His last Congressional term expired a year ago and since then, he declared today, he has devoted his efforts to a campaign of good citizenship, the objective being that neither party nominate a wet candidate for President and the Democratic party shall not drink.

At tonight's debate, Uphaw R. E. of Westfield, will uphold the affirmative on the Al Smith candidate. Al Smith will never get the election, he'll all wet," said Uphaw.

"He wrote his own ruin when he led his State to secede from the union of prohibition."

WHERE THE DESERT IS.
"Of course, there are great wet spots like Boston, New York, Pitts- burg, St. Louis and Chicago, where American elements largely dominate and where the law is better enforced. But out in the great open spaces—out among the Plains—where the masses of Americans—the people who do the saving and the voting—the law has been a glorious success."

Uphaw is a fine man and is very popular in the South. But he is so much the humanitarian that it is very hard to tell if he could decide what he was and is a "wet" or a "dry" man.

ONE FIRM RELEASED AS NO. STATION DEFENDANT.
One defendant in the trial of Edward D. Goldman to prevent election of an arena at the new North Station was released from further appearance in the proceedings in equity today. Attorney Conrad W. Crocker, representing Goldman, announced that he was consenting to dismissal of the bill of complaint as against the New England Foundation Co., Inc., which was made a party solely because it had undertaken a contract to put in foundations for the arena structure, a substantial portion of which were not required for a station. The contract price was fair and the company innocent and it should not be subjected to further trouble, he explained.

Coolidge Will Compromise in "Big Navy" Fight

CRUISER BUILDING TO GET FIRST PLACE

Washington, Feb. 14 (INS.—President Coolidge and his naval advisers are willing to accept a compromise in the "big navy" plan, in which a cruiser building program will be given first place, according to information placed before the House Naval Affairs Committee today.

THE EMBRYO begins at once to develop from its own bud, the two fetal membranes or chorion and amnion, and the umbilical cord, from which a pit or orifice extends from the water. In this the embryo floats and consequently any pressure to which it is subjected by the water is equalized.

A special growth called the placenta (because of its shape) of the chorion membrane or chorion (skin) the embryo attaches itself to the wall of the uterus.

Through the placenta the parent and embryo derive food and oxygen. But it develops as well as food as its own excretory and digestive system. There are a number of blood vessels in the placenta. The capillaries which carry the embryo's wastes from the placenta support, protection, water, food, and oxygen.

The fetal membranes and placenta form the shell of the embryo, and are held from the placenta by several its umbilical

It Looks All Wrong, But It's Thg'r to Luther

WithIN a week the embryo has become a minute pluteus larva, with a straight body and a long, thin tail. It is suspended in the plate at both ends, the opening of the mouth at the anterior end. Within the embryo was a yolk sac, and became the thoracic shield and eye.

Meanwhile, a series of lines appear, dividing the plate like an egg carton. The first line divides the animals, as we worms and you humans, into the head and tail. The second line, the notochord, as do we in our rib cage, separates the head from the tail. The third line, the floating rib cage, separates the ribs, but we have no ribs. The fourth line, the notum, separates the head from the spine. Those below the notum face us with a color as from a red sun, and a blackish-brown lateral process.

The vast majority of animals have a backbone, and are called vertebrates. One of the great vertebrates is the fish, which has a vertebral column. Three types were tried out before the fish—brachiopods, which had a shell, and three types of stage worm. The stage worm, however, was the least complex. It was the ancestor of the permanent body plan of the lowest fishes appears today.

This being Valentine's Day, it is worth a bit of silly suggestions for Valentine designs to be presented to prominent people.

A DOZEN ASSORTED VOLTAGE CARDS ELECTRIC POWER

For instance, somebody suggested that Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilber have seven pasted-in pictures of all the electricians who'd ever been killed by electricity. That would make quite a show.

The president of Columbia would be responsible for doing something like this for everybody. The way it should be done would be to send down the street every night a car full of men carrying lanterns. They would go from house to house and knock on the door. If there was no one home they would leave the lantern burning and come back later. If there was someone home they would ask if they could see the president of Columbia. If they were allowed in they would show him the lantern and tell him what they had seen. Then they would take the lantern away and leave the house. This would be done every night until the president of Columbia had seen every lantern. Then they would stop.

Shark embryos have five gill arches with openings, or gill-clefts between, and two branchial arches from which the shark forms its poorly developed lower jaw.

Most of these arches and the branchial clefts between appear at the third week in the human fetus. The way the clefts disappear and the development of the arches into the extraordinarily complicated human throat is possibly the most interesting and confused chapter in human embryology.

NEW ENGLAND'S OLYMPIC SWIMMING HOPES

MARGARET MCSHEEHY KATHERINE MEARLS ALBINA OSIPOWICH
These three mermaids rank with the best in this part of the country and their work in recent meets makes it appear certain that they will make a strong bid for a place on the U. S. Olympic team.

MERMAIDS SETS NEW RECORD

Miss Joan McSheehy, senior New England backstroke swimmer, lowered her own record for the 100-yard backstroke event at the national meet held under the auspices of the Pacific Department at Curtis Hall, Jamaica Plain.

The youthful Whiteville swimmer, who is but 17, set a record of 1:15.5 for the 100-yard backstroke, beating the record of 1:16.5 set by Miss Walker of the Whiteville Swimming Club.

Miss Walker won the race easily, taking a short lead at the start, and was out in front by a foot until the last tank length. A final surge carried her away from the field to an easy victory.

There was a tie for the championship in the 100-yard freestyle event, with Miss Walker and Miss Whiteville, both of whom won the race by a narrow margin.

Hudkins to Receive $20,000 for Mello Go

Ace Hudkins, Nebraska Wildcat, will receive a guarantee of $20,000 when he battles Al Mello of Lowell, New England welterweight champion, in a ten-round bout at a Suffolk A. A. show at the New Boston Arena on February 27. This is the largest amount of money to be guaranteed a boxer in the history of the ring in New England.

Moneyboy Finnegan and Chick Suggs each pulled down $12,000 for their bout at the Arena a year ago last November. The $20,000 guarantee to Hudkins shatters this record.

Let Referees Pick Winners—Runyon

By DAMON RUNYON

It always struck me that the system of having two judges and an unwieldy referee to decide one pugilistic encounter is cumbersome and unwieldy.

I mean to say, cutting it up into little bits of words, that it is all wrong.

A referee, I think, is ample for deciding the deciding word for that.

Let the referee pick the winner, and let the judges pick the loser.

Let the referee pick the winner, and let the judges pick the loser.

Let the referee pick the winner, and let the judges pick the loser.

Hahn's Boss Is Done With Bruins

Prea, Adams Does Not Expect Ailing Manager to Be at Helm Next Year

Toronto, Feb. 14.—After the conference of the board of governors of the National Hockey League, Charles F. Adams, owner of the Boston Bruins, announced that he does not expect Art Ross, his manager, back as pilot.

How is at his home in Montreal undergoing treatment for a stomach ailment which forced him to turn the leadership of the team over to Capt. Maurice "Red" Dineen in Boston two weeks ago.

The Bruins' Pittsburgh Pirates' franchise was officially discussed at the meeting. Prea, Frank Calder made a statement to the effect that the Toronto interests, present owners of the franchise, had announced they had given a ninety-day option on the franchise to J. V. The Bruins will play their remaining home games in Pittsburgh, and where the franchise and players will be moved to next season is indefinite.

ONE CODE URGED.

At last there is a possibility of one code of hockey rules prevailing. This was brought about by the decision of a letter from the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, in which the National Hockey League was requested to accept a similar code of rules.

The National Hockey League accepted a committee composed of President Calder, Leo Dandurand of Quebec, Tony Smyth of Montreal, and Charles F. Adams of Boston to meet on Feb. 14 at the Boston Hotel.

Hahn Fails to Break Mark

New York, Feb. 14.—Lloyd Hahn, Boston A. A. middle-distance runner, failed in an attempt to beat the world record for the two-mile run, which is held by Jimmie Connelley of the New York A. C. for the past five years.

Finishing the last four laps of the race alone, Hahn covered the distance in 22m. 42.5s, compared with the world record of 22m. 43.1s, held by Jimmie Connelley of the New York A. C. for the past five years.

Although he failed to beat Connelley's record, Hahn tied the world's best outside time for the two-mile run, which is held by Jimmie Connelley of the New York A. C. for the past five years.

Hudkins to Receive $20,000 for Mello Go

Ace Hudkins, Nebraska Wildcat, will receive a guarantee of $20,000 when he battles Al Mello of Lowell, New England welterweight champion, in a ten-round bout at a Suffolk A. A. show at the New Boston Arena on February 27. This is the largest amount of money to be guaranteed a boxer in the history of the ring in New England.

Moneyboy Finnegan and Chick Suggs each pulled down $12,000 for their bout at the Arena a year ago last November. The $20,000 guarantee to Hudkins shatters this record.

Miss Walker won the race easily, taking a short lead at the start, and was out in front by a foot until the last tank length. A final surge carried her away from the field to an easy victory.

There was a tie for the championship in the 100-yard freestyle event, with Miss Walker and Miss Whiteville, both of whom won the race by a narrow margin.

Miss Whiteville, who is but 17, set a record of 1:15.5 for the 100-yard backstroke, beating the record of 1:16.5 set by Miss Walker of the Whiteville Swimming Club.
